

SENTENCE STRUCTURE

A complete sentence must express a complete thought and must have a subject and a verb.

→ Example: He lost the game.

A sentence fragment results from a missing subject, verb or complete thought.

→ Example: Because he was lost.

THERE ARE FOUR TYPES OF SENTENCES: SIMPLE, COMPOUND, COMPLEX OR COMPOUND-COMPLEX

1

A simple sentence consists of one main clause. It expresses one main thought and has one subject and one verb. A simple sentence may contain a compound subject, or a compound verb or both.

→ Examples: We enjoyed the concert.

Amy and Scott were married yesterday. (compound subject: Amy and Scott)

Ben is leaving work and going home. (compound verb: leaving and going)

2

A compound sentence contains two or more main clauses (in italics) connected by a conjunction, a semicolon or a comma with a conjunction.

→ Examples: Collecting fossils is fun, but I think identifying fossils is difficult. (conjunction)

Amy's suit looks new; it just got back from the cleaners. (semicolon)

Erin came home yesterday and looked at the book that she had bought in Florida. (comma and conjunction)

3

A complex sentence has one main clause (in italics) and one or more subordinate clauses (underlined).

→ Examples: Dad says that good grades are the result of diligent studying. (main clause, one independent clause)

Diligent studying is difficult because I have to work several hours before I can start studying. (main clause, two dependent clauses)

4

A compound-complex sentence has two or more main clauses (in italics) and one or more subordinate clauses (underlined).

→ Examples: Because the school bus broke down, the team rode in a van, and the cheerleaders rode in cars. Unless my eyes are deceiving me, Kristi is on that runaway horse, and Dale is behind her.

SPELLING RULES

Write i before e except after c, or when sounded like e as in weigh and eight.

→ Exceptions: seize, weird, either, leisure, neither

When the ie/ei combination is not part of a word ending in ll, lll, llll, or lll, write ie.

→ Examples: reign, weigh, neighbor

→ Exceptions: friend, view, mischief, fiery

When a multi-syllable word ends in a consonant preceded by one vowel, the accent is on the last syllable and the suffix begins with a vowel — the same rule holds true: double the final consonant.

→ Examples: prefer = preferred | allot = allotted | control = controlling

If a word ends with a silent e, drop the e before adding a suffix that begins with a vowel.

→ Examples: use = using | like = liking | state = stating | love = loving

When the suffix begins with a consonant, do not drop the e.

→ Examples: use = useful | state = statement | nine = ninety

→ Exceptions: argument, judgment, truly, ninth

When y is the last letter in a word and the y is preceded by a consonant, change the y to i before adding any suffix except those beginning with i.

→ Examples: lady = ladies | try = tries | happy = happiness | ply = pliable
